THE TARIFF BILL

Mr. Mason referred to the proposed tariff debate. The bill would be before the Senate soon. It remedled an act which promised a "tariff for revenue" and gave a "tariff for deficiency." It was now proposed to give protection to American industries, and to the American laboring man, and yet the business interests of the country were trembling on the verge of "despondency and Democ-racy," because they knew the fate of the government by the people, when we ch the highest body in the government said he observed the smile on the faces of some of his colleagues. They all liked power, and as soon as a man entered these Senate doors his energies were directed to retaining power in the old way. "I want to deliver a message from the people before this hope of power possesses me," exclaimed the Senator, and the galleries gave a response by hearty applause.

SENATE PARALYSIS.

Mr. Maxon spoke of the paralysis in the Senate ou all great questions. Here at the close of the nineteenth century, the great question was presented whether international differences were to be actived by arbitration or by the methods of Fitzsimmons and Corbett. The Senate had listened to specches, but in this, as in all other questions, there was no action. The Senator from Alakama (Mr. Morgan) had presented a resolution as to Cuba, involving the great Cuban question, "handed down to us by Grover II."

There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, prompt-ly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. Dr. R. W. Martin served as best man, and the bride's little sister, Ruth, whose natural talent for music has already attracted attention, played

ADD TO OUR TROOPS.

REGIMENT OF VIRGINIA CAVALRY TO BE REORGANIZED.

COLONEL HAWES FOR COMMANDANT.

The Governor Grants Colonel Euker's Request to Be Retired-How It Is Proposed to Improve This

Arm of the Service.

Colonel Charles Euker's request that he should be placed on the retired list bas been granted by the Governor. This leads to the interesting query, who will be elected to the command of the cavalry, and what will be done with that arm of the State militia, which has for some time been immeasurably below the standard?

A plan of reorganization has been suggested to the Governor, and an effort is being made to carry it out. It comprehends the rehabilitation of Troop G, the formation of new troops in Norfolk and of the Albemarle and Surry county troops. This will bring the regiment up to the standard, and those who are engineering the reorganization do not anticipate the slightest difficulty in effecting it.

A communication has been sent to the captains of the troops now in existence, and to those gentlemen at the head of Norfolk and Prince Edward county, suggesting that the colonelcy of the regiment shall be offered to Colonel G. Percy Hawes, of this city. This appointment, it is believed, would be very popular with

Damage Done by the Frost.

Damage Done by the Frost.

The reports received at the Weather Bureau here yesterday regarding the unusuality cold weather of Tuesday night were to the effect that the frost had done considerable damage in the vicinity of Norfolk. Heavy frost is noted as far south as Charlotte, N. C., and the effect was more or less injurious all over Virginia. It is stated that there was some ice around Richmond.

Said Section-Director Evans, speaking of this matter yesterday: "While I expect reports of considerable damage, still I do not believe that it will be as great as if this spring had been an early one as was last spring. We have had a great deal of cloudy and cool weather, which has kept back fruits and vegetables, which ought to be in such shape as to not be much harmed."

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

REPORTS FROM ALL GREAT BUSI-NESS CENTRES OF THE WORLD.

Prices of Money, Bonds, Stocks, Grain, Tobacco, Cotton, Cattle, and Domestic.

NEW YORK, April 21 .- The European var situation continues to largely dominate the course of the market for stocks here, as was shown by the quick adjustment to the London parity in the quotations at the opening. The day was without special developments otherwise, outside of special movements in individual stocks. London showed a further fractional advance for American securities, and this was probably due in part to the fact that yesterday's London prices were somewhat depressed by the excessive depression existing in New York on Monday. Prices for Americans continued to improve in London during the day, and there was some buying for account here. The result has been that prices here have recovered the loss sustained on Monday, and are very generally above Saturday's close, to the extent of a varying fraction.

Trading was dull to-day, however, outside of some special cases, dealers having apparently been convinced by their experience of Monday, when they acted without any foreign exchanges to take their cue from, and largely oversold the market, on the war news, that they did not understand much about the Eastern question, and that they would prefer to await a clearer comprehension
